

Walk to raise awareness of child sex trafficking!

Shared Hope International wants YOU to join us in raising
awareness to stop
child sex trafficking

The Stop Child Trafficking Now (SCTNow) Walk is an annual event to rally support, increase awareness, and raise funds to stop child trafficking. Thousands of people will take to the streets in cities across the United States on the weekend of September 26-27, 2009. Be a part of this nationwide event and the global fight to end the sale of innocent children into slavery by participating in the DC Walk to stop child sex trafficking!

Proceeds benefit both SCTNow and DC Metropolitan efforts to end child sex trafficking. Most importantly, donations received by Courtney's House--a restorative shelter for survivors of child sex trafficking set to open in early 2010--will add to the start-up funds donated by Shared Hope International (SHI). The walk will commence with an awareness rally featuring leaders from local and national organizations, including President and Founder of SHI, Linda Smith. SHI will be wearing our END DEMAND t-shirts, which will be available for purchase the day of the event.

The bigger the turnout, the more attention we draw to the issue! Will you join us? Be an advocate for those without a voice.
